

FACT SHEET

National Corporate Compliance and Ethics Week

DESCRIPTION

BPA celebrated its first National Corporate Compliance and Ethics Week, May 1-7. As part of this celebration, BPA hosted a Compliance Fair. They provided product information and gave employees an opportunity to input information into the hotline. To advertise this event, BPA placed "tent" documents in the cafeteria, restrooms, and other public places. BPA also had food provided in the cafeteria that week with ethical names such as "hotline hash" and "ethical enchiladas."

PURPOSE

The Ethics Celebration was used to reinforce and foster a culture of compliance in everyday activities and actions.

PRODUCT ADAPTABILITY

Any agency can have an Ethics Week or Ethics Celebration. Most of the information is available on the external or internal web. These events can be designed to fit any agency.
