

FACT SHEET

EOUSA Financial Disclosure System

DESCRIPTION

EFDS is not only software that streamlines the filing and review of the public financial disclosure reports using a paperless, on-line process; it is also a database that securely stores and maintains the public financial disclosure reports, allowing printing off of financial interest lists for conflict review purposes. The time and money savings features of EFDS include: the ability for Public Filers to copy over report data from one report to another, eliminating redundant data entry; online e-signature and certification allowing for online review and access through the user roles such as Public Filer, District Ethics Advisor, and GCO; the elimination of paper copies and mailing costs; the ability to transfer a record from district to district within EFDS itself and to instantaneously generate the PDF form; secure record retention and disposal; and the ability for the United States Attorneys' Offices to generate asset reports to create financial interest lists resulting in the efficient screening and recusal of attorneys from conflicts of interests.

PURPOSE

EFDS is not only software that streamlines the filing and review of the public financial disclosure reports using a paperless, on-line process; it is also a database that securely stores and maintains the public financial disclosure reports.

PRODUCT ADAPTABILITY

EFDS is very transferable and at a fraction of the cost of versions offered by other federal agencies.
