NCUA Agency-customized Deal or No Deal Training Game

DESCRIPTION

From Interagency Ethics Council (IEC) ad hoc training committees, NCUA found out about Training Games, Inc. <http://www.training-games.com/> from the FTC and decided to order and customize one of TGI's game show PowerPoint's for its live ethics training. TGI's Deal or No Deal template is in PowerPoint so it's relatively low cost and easy to use. Twenty-four questions were customized from NCUA ethics issues. Regional ethics officials served as team leaders to give them exposure to employees as well as the HQ ethics team. Prizes were awarded and time was taken to introduce all of the ethics officials.

PURPOSE

NCUA wanted to hold a session that would engage and entertain about 500 employees in a big conference room at the end of a long week of training for a full hour.

PRODUCT ADAPTABILITY

Any agency can customize the Deal or No Deal game, and can use it for large or small groups.
