U. S. Office of Government Ethics

Field Office Ethics Program Survey

INTRODUCTION

To better serve the ethics community of executive branch departments and agencies (agency) and its field office ethics programs throughout the country, the Office of Government Ethics (OGE) would like to learn more about your experiences, opinions, and needs regarding various facets of your field office’s ethics program. The results of this survey will be used to improve the services provided by OGE in support of field office ethics programs.

This survey is being distributed to the primary ethics official at field office ethics program locations throughout the country. We ask that you, as the primary ethics official, complete the survey. However, if administration of the ethics program is delegated to another person in your office, please forward the survey to that person for completion. Administration includes reviewing financial disclosure reports, providing ethics advice, and/or conducting ethics training. The survey takes about 20 minutes to complete.

Please provide responses to the survey questions based on your experiences at the field office in which you work. For the purposes of this survey, “field office” is the regional, district, or other level office for which you administer the ethics program for your agency. For example, if you administer the program for the entire region (whether or not the region has sublocations) your answers should pertain to the entire region. However, if you administer the program for a designation other than a region, for example, a district office, your answers should pertain to the district office only.

This survey is anonymous. There is nothing on it to identify you. Please mail back your completed survey in the enclosed addressed envelope by June 5, 1998. Also, please return the enclosed postcard separately after completing the survey. We need the cards returned so that we can remind those who do not answer. There is no way to link the number on the postcard with your returned survey. A prompt response will save the expense of costly follow-up mailings.

In the event that the return envelope is misplaced, the return address is:

Attention: Phyllis A. Hoffer
U.S. Office of Government Ethics
1201 New York Avenue, NW.
Washington, DC 20005

Important Note: This survey is intended for completion by Federal employees only.

ETHICS PROGRAM OPERATIONS

For the next questions we would like to obtain your views on the operation of your field office’s ethics program over the last year. For example, we would like to know if your office had or did not have significant difficulty collecting financial disclosure reports from those employees who were required to file, reviewing financial disclosure reports within the required time frame, getting employees to show up for required annual ethics briefings, and communicating with your agency’s Designated Agency Ethics Official (DAEO).

15. Think back over the last year. For each of the following ethics program elements or functions, indicate those for which your office has generally experienced no significant problems, significant problems that have been resolved, or significant problems that still exist. (Check one column for each row.)

We would also like to know whether or not your field office has implemented or plans to implement changes to the way you provide annual ethics briefings and what types of training methods you would like to use for conducting ethics training in the future.

35. The 1997 interim rule amendments to OGE’s ethics training regulation, among other things, give agencies options as to the method by which they provide annual ethics briefings for covered employees who are not public financial disclosure report filers. For those covered employees, annual training may now be provided by means of written briefings for up to two out of every three years or, as previously required, annual verbal briefings may be continued.

We would like to know whether or not your field office has implemented/will implement the change to provide written briefings instead of verbal briefings and, if so, when was it/will it be implemented? (Check one.)

1. ☐ In 1997
2. ☐ In 1998
3. ☐ Sometime after 1998
4. ☐ Will not be implemented
5. ☐ Don’t know if the change will be implemented

36. What types of training methods would you like OGE to provide for your use for conducting ethics training over the next few years? Select your top 3 choices. (Check up to 3.)
